CABINET MEETS TO CONSIDER CASE

Riggs Suit May Be Cause of Bringing Other Banks in Case

STAND BY OFFICIALS

Samuel Untermyer Probably Will Advise Secretary of the Treasury as His Close Friend.

Washington, April 17—More rumors conecrning a broadening out of the controversy between the Riggs National Bank and Comptroller Williams and Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo are current today.

The fact that President Wilson is displaying a personal interest in the case; that he apparently has directed Attorney General Gregory to back up Treasury officials to the utmost; that the Cabinet discussed the fight at its regular meeting yesterday; that the Comptroller has intimated consideration will be given to possible criminal actions; that hundreds of other banks have written letters giving moral support to the Riggs bank, and that there is reason to believe on the one hand that powerful financial interests are friendly to the bank in its suit, and, on the other hand, that the Treasury officials are giving their attention to these interests(with a view to finding out whether any of them have beenviolating the law —all these phases of the struggle and others have led to the belief that Washington and the country have seen only the beginning of the trouble.

Washington, April 17—The suit of the Riggs bank against the United States Treasury officials was discussed at the Cabinet meeting yesterday. Attorney General Gregory as he left the White House said that no steps had been decided upon. There was a plain intimation, however, that the President and the administration generally would stand behind the Treasury Department.

At the request of counsel for the government, the District Supreme Court yesterday morning postponed until May 12 the preliminary hearing in the injunction proceedings of the Riggs National Bank against Secretary McAdoo, Comptroller of the Currency John Skelton Williams and United States Treasurer Burke.

There was a report that Samuel Untermyer, of New York, was to be engaged as senior counsel to look after the interest of the government. Mr. Untermeyer came to Washington quietly Thursday evening, and it is known that he had a conference with Comptroller Williams. It is said that he visited the President in the White House, going there without passing through the public offices. No information concerning this alleged visit was given at the White House. At the Department of Justice there was absolute silence on the subject.

Comptroller Williams stated that Mr. Untermeyer had not been employed, so far as he knew, and that if he were to be engaged the Department of Justice would be the department that would employ him. At the office of the Secretary of the Treasury it was said that Mr. Untermyer had not "yet" been employed in the case, and it was not known there whether he would be.

It was learned that Treasury Department officials were not contemplating retaining Mr. Untermyer as counsel, but that he probably would advise Secretary McAdoo as a close personal friend of wide experience in banking matters. It also was learned that Solicitor- General John W. Davis probably would appear among counsel for the government officials.

A large array of legal talent on both sides and the interested parties were in court when the case was called yesterday morning.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The official Fremenblatt of Vienna, declares that all reports of an alleged intention on the part of Austria to conclude a separate peace with Russia are devoid of foundation.

Two Zeppelin airships visited the east coast of England shortly after midnight, dropping bombs on several towns, doing considerable damage to property. As far as has been ascertained, only one person, a woman, was injured.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company, operating one of the largest fleets in foreign trade under the American flag, announces that all sailings after November 2 1915, had been canceled because of the seamen's law, which will go into effect November 4. The company operates with Chinese crews.

"Premier Radoslavoff, of Bulgaria, has acknowledged the possibility of Bulgaria's impending participation in the war in support of the triple entente powers," says the London Daily Mail's Sofia correspondent. "This attitude was brought about by Germany's refusal to deliver munitions of war which Bulgaria has paid for, or to make the April loan advance as agreed upon."

Efforts to prevent a strike of Chicago carpenters proved unavailing and yesterday 8,000 workmen packed their tool chests to go on strike, while 8,000 others prepared to return to work today. Contractors employing the 16,000 carpenters are about evenly divided in regard to signing an agreement with the men. About half signed the new wage scale insisted upon by the carpenters. The others intend to fight it out.

A dispatch to the Paris Temps from Alexandria says: "A reign of terror prevails in the town of Smyrna. The Turkish troops are pillaging the shops for army supplies. Wealthy residents have been robbed of all their property and driven into the interior. Numerous assassinations are committed daily by brigands who had been armed by the government to assist in the defense of the town."

Possibility of war between Germany and Holland was frankly discussed by the Amsterdam Telegram yesterday, which denounced the sinking of the Dutch steamer Katwyk, as "a crime." It is intimated, however, that Holland would take no military action without careful consideration, saying: "If Holland has to enter the war it must be the Dutch government who chooses the moment, not the government having these cowardly assassins."

According to reports which reached Basel yesterday from Berlin and Vienna, Emperor William has ordered the principal German generals and also some of the Austrian commanders to meet him in a grand conference, to discuss the summer campaign. The meeting will be held within the next few days either at Cologne or Berlin. Two Austrian archdukes will attend. One of the chief questions will be that of stopping the Russian army from entering Budapest. The situation in Austria is said to be considered serious by the Teutonic allies.

Harry Kendall Thaw was yesterday ordered back to the State hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan by the appellate division of the New York Supreme Court. In an opinion concurred in by all the justices, the court affirmed the denial by Supreme Court Justice Page of a motion to return Thaw to the jurisdiction of the State of New Hampshire whence he was extradited to stand trial for conspiring to escape from the Matteawan asylum, and ruled that the original order committing him to the institution was still valid. Plans are now being formulated to take the case to the State Court of Appeals.

Cruiser Sent to Turtle Bay.

Washington, April .17—Secretary of the Navy Daniels today announced that Admiral Howard, Pacific fleet commander, had diverted the cruiser New Orleans, on its way from San Diego to Mazatlan, to Turtle Bay, to learn just what the Japanese were doing at the latter place.

The New Orleans is due to arrive at Turtle Bay this morning.

LONDON SUFFERS FROM BOMB SCARE

"Zeppelinitis" Prevailing Malady in British Capital Today

FEARS FOR TONIGHT

Reports That German Airmen Have Made Other Attacks on English Cities Cause Anxiety.

London, April 17—London and East Coast towns suffered from "Zeppelinitis" today.

In the excited minds of the Essex villagers, every cloud concealed a German dirigible or aeroplane. Sensational reports reached London almost hourly carrying fresh rumors of Zeppelin raids.

Early today, while the capital was in pitch darkness several telephone messages reported another Zeppelin attack upon Essex and Suffolk. A German airship, it was reported passed near Colchester, dropping seven bombs and then flew over Ipswich and Felixstone. Several hours passed without any confirmation and the admiralty announced that the report probably was untrue.

A Zeppelin attack upon Essex c
A Zeppelin raid upon London was fully expected last night.

Because it did not come Londoners are equally certain that the attack will be made tonight, weather conditions permitting. Consequently, all the precautions taken last night, when all lights were extinguished and motor cars patrolled all the highways into London, will be observed tonight.

BOY KILLED BY TRAIN.

Norfolk, Va., April 17.—Young Linwood Sawyer, son of John J. Sawyer, of Seaboard avenue, South Norfolk, aged 12 years, was instantly killed yesterday morning about seven o'clock by being run over by a westbound Norfolk & Western coal train. The accident occurred near the Park avenue crossing between the south Norfolk station and the Virginia Railway crossing.

It is claimed that young Sawyer attempted to board the moving train and lost his hold. He fell under the wheels of one of the cars and his head was completely severed from the body.

It has been a frequent occurrence for boys living along or near the railroad in South Norfolk to jump on moving trains as well as street cars.

ROBBERY IN PHILADELPHIA.

Automobile Bandits Secure $3,500 From Manufacturer.

Philadelphia, April 17.—Automobile bandits held up and robbed William Tutleman, a shirtwaist anufacturer, of near $3,500 in coin and bills yesterday when he was returning from the bank to pay his employes. The robbery, which was effected after the manufacturer had been knocked almost unconscious with a blackjack or sandbag, occurred at Germantown avenue and Jefferson street, a thickly populated section of the city. These shots were fired at Tutleman, when he made a plucky attempt to follow the bandits.

Tutleman believes that Nathan Smith, one of his employes who had gone to the bank with him as a bodyguard, engineered the plot to steal the money.

The latter was carrying the money satchel when a mud-slattered motor car approached. Smith, the manufacturer declares, was making an effort to reach the car when he dragged the money from his hand. Another man, who was standing on the corner, then struck Tutleman over the head with some weapon, tore the satchel from him and jumped into the machine with Smith and the chauffeur.

Although a crowd which had rushed to the scene followed the fleeing machine it was speedily lost to view, and at a late hour last night the police had been unable to find any trace of it or the stolen money.

ELECTION JUDGES MAY BE JAILED

Ruling of Attorney General Pollard on New Primary Law

RUDE SHOCK TO SOME

Approximately Two Thousand offices Will Be Filled at This Year's Election—Many Candidates.

Richmond, April 17.—Officers of election and politicians in many counties in the State will find occasion to worry, in an opinion just rendered by Attorney General Pollard on the new law which makes it a misdemeanor for any election officers to attempt to influence a voter.

Requests for interpretation of the different new priovisions of the election law are received almost daily at the Attorney Geenral's office, and Mr. Pollard has been compelled to give much time and study to the numerous questions propounded.

The opinion on the provision forbidding election judges and clerks to solicit support for candidates of their choice relates to the penalty that may be imposed where a conviction is securred in such a case. The new law while pronouncing solicitation by a judge of election a misdemeanor, carries no specific penalty. The ruling of the Attorney General on that point is given under another statute, which provides that where no specific penalty is imposed, it is left to the discretion of the trial magistrate to impose a fine or a jail sentence or both.

It is a matter of common knowledge that in many counties voters are influenced by judges of election who are chosen with implied understanding that they are to use their influence with voters for the benefit of candidates.

"Old line" politicians have since time immemorial regarded it as their prerogative to solicit support for their favorite candidates, after accepting appointment as election officers. The Attorney General's ruling will be a rude shock to them.

Many offices are to be filled in Virginia this year. City and county elections are to be held everywhere in the State. Statistics in hand show that the total number of candidates for office already in the field is approximately 2,000.

THINK RAT POISON CANDY.

Children Eat it at "Tea Party" and One Little Girl Dies

Perth Amboy, N. Y., April 17.—Four year old Rose, daughter of John Bednar is dead and four of her playmates may die as the result of eating what they thought was candy but which in reality was a commonly known substance called "rat poison" the chief ingredient of which is arsenic, according to City Physician Meinzer.

The little ones were playing Thursday evening when Johnny Lusk found a can in which was the supposed candy. It resembled sugar and the children, who were playing "tea party," sprinkled it on their food. The Bednar child ate a quantity on an apple.

LOCAL BREVITIES

The residence of Antony E. Smoot, of this city, together with its contents, at Colonial Beach, was destroyed by fire Thursday evening.

The State Corporation commission has granted an amendment to the charter of the J. H. Bradley Co., Inc., Alexandria, changing name to Bradley, Beall and Howard, Inc.

Mrs. Mae Wilburn who has been quite sick at her home in south Lee street, is improving.

RICHMOND THEATRE.

The attraction at the Richmond Theatre next Monday will be the three-part Kalem drama, "The Second Commandment," which Miss Dorothy Bernard, who in private life is the wife of the popular stock actor, A. H. Van Buren, will be seen for the first time in Alexandria. It will be remembered that Miss Bernard was Van Buren's leading lady at the Columbia Theatre in Washington. Supported as she is by a very strong cast, including Mr. Guy Coombs and Miss Anna Nilsson, the attraction promises to be especially fine.

CHILD'S SKULL FRACTURED.

Blows Showered on Little Victim's Head After She Was Unconscious.

Philadelphia, April 17— Nine year old Marion Riley received injuries which will probably cause her death as the result of a beating alleged to have been given her last night by two small boys, Morris Miller, aged seven years, and his brother, Robert, six years old, of Wallace street, above Twenty-first. She is in the Mary Drexel home with a fractured skull and cuts and bruises about the head and face and the doctors hold out no hope for her recovery. Little Robert Miller, said to have inflicted the wounds, with an iron bar, was placed under arerst, but was afterward released in the custody of his father, Morris Miller.

The trouble started when Marion met the older Miller boy on the street near her home, and taunted him with being a foreigner. He got angry and threw stones at his tormentor, who finally chased him toward his home. His smaller brother came out of the house at that moment holding in his hand an iron bar, with which, it is charged, he promptly knocked the girl down. According to the police, the boy kept on wielding the bar, even after his victim was unconscious, although the older boy became frightened when she stopped screaming and tried to drag him away.

SHOOTS HIS WIFE.

Murderous Acts of Husband When His Better Half Refuses to Return to Him.

Coatesville, Pa., April 17.— Thomas Eachus Rice, aged 25 years, son of Policeman Thomas Edgar Rice, who was murdered by Zach Walker, the negro, who was subsequently lynched, a few years ago, shot his wife, Bessie, aged 20 years; Richard McCarraher, 16 and Evan McCarraher, 25, last night in front of the home of the latter's father, Aument Mc Carraher, not far from where the negro Walker fired the other fatal shot.

Mrs Rice is in the hospital suffering with a bullet wound in the right arm. Richard McCarraher, with a bullet wound over the heart, is at home in a dying condition, and Evan McCarraher received a bullet in the left side, but it glanced off a rib. Rice was arrested five minutes after the shooting.

Because his wife refused to leave the McCarraher home, relatives, it is alleged, prompted Rice to commit the deed, and besides he was enraged upon returning from work to find his wife absent. He went to the McCarraher home and tried to persuade her to return home, and when she refused point blank Rice fired a shot at her.

DEATH NOTICE.

DIED—Friday, April 16th, at 11:30 a. m. at the residence of her son, MRS. VIRGINIA H. CHAUNCEY, in her 75th year. Funeral from the residence of her son, 513 south Henry street, Sunday, April 18th, at 4:30 o'clock.

GERMAN CRUISER AT THE SHIPYARD

Kronprinz Wilhelm Will Be Placed in the Dry Dock on Monday

WARSHIP OFF COAST

British Vessel Lies About Twenty Five Miles Away From The Virginia Capes at Present

Newport News, Va., April 17—The German auxiliary cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm moved at 10 o'clock this morning to the pier at the local shipyard at which the Prinz Eitel Friedrich formerly was tied up. Such repair work as may be undertaken before the sea raider enters dry dock will be started at once and theraider will be placed in dry dock early on Monday morning. The bursted pipe leading to the steam winch has been repaired.

The work of loading coal nad provisions was completed yesterday afternoon and last night the cruiser was dumping ashes.

Commander Thierichens, of the Eitel, paid an official visit to the Wilhelm yesterday afternoon, and was closeted with Captain Thierfelder for a couple of hours. Nothing was given out as to the nature of the conference.

Collector Hamilton talked to both commanders informally on shore.

Newport News, Va., April 17—That if there are more than one foreign warship off the Virginia capes they keep at a distance of twenty five miles from the coast is the declaration of a party of photographers who Thursday chartered a vessel and searched the sea in the vicinity of Cape Henry. Other than the fleet of American warships they found only one man of war, and this said to be the armored cruiser Berwick was lying about five miles off shore.

The party was permitted to come within hailing distance of the lone cruiser, but because of weather conditions could not converse with those on board the ship.

REVOLTING CRIME

Winston Salem, N .C. April 17.—Details that have come to light reative to the murder of G. J. Warren, railroad man of this place last August in his home here, indicate that the crime was one of the most revolting and brutal in the criminal annals of North Carolina.

Some of the details are embraced in a confession which the police claim to have wrung from Mrs. Ida Ball Warren, widow of the victim, who is now in jail awaiting a court hearing.

According to Mrs. Warren, her husband was murdered the early morning of August 18 while he lay in bed after she had put him to sleep with chloroform. This part of the job completed, she told the police that Samuel P. Christy, her former sweetheart recently arrested in Grand Saline, Texas, chocked him to death with a rope. Later the body was placed in a trunk and hauled away by Christy to Muddy Creek where it was sunk with iron weights in the stream.

Several weeks afterward the body was found and kept in an undertaker morfgue here for some time. It was finally buried without being identisome to be the body of Warren.

Mrs. Warren when queried then regarding the whereabout of her husband said that he was on a visit to his mother down South and was not expected back for several months. Thought she pretended to be unable to recall his address, this yarn threw the authorities off the track.

Police interest in the case was recently revived when Chief Thomas received a letter from Warren's mother in Louisinna saying that she had not heard from him since early in last August and she feared that some harm had befallen him. Chief Thomas immediately upon receipt of this information renewed the investigation and soon had Warren's wife in custory.

Interesting News Notes About People of Alexandria—Happenings in Society.

The Colonial Dames met with Mrs. Thomas B. Cochran yesterday afternoon at her home in south St. Asaph Street. Following the meeting Mrs. Cochran entertained at a very charmingly arranged informal reception. Receiving with Mrs. Cochran were her house guest, Mrs. Jacob Edge, and the newly appointed chairman of the Alexandria branch of Colonial Dames, Miss Helen Norris Cummings. Punch was served by Mrs. William M. Smith. In the dining room a bevy of Alexandria's most popular young ladies assisted Mrs. Lawrence Washington in serving the dainty ices which were incased in orange baskets with bows of blue ribbon adorning the handles, carrying out the color scheme of blue and yellow, the colors of the Colonial Dames chapter.

A tall vase of yellow snap dragons rose from a lace centerpiece over blue, the blue also peeping through the dollies on which rested the dainty yellow mints, bon bons, and cake dainties. Miss Emily Johnson, Miss Delia Phillips, Miss Mary Phillips, Miss Ellen Fawcett, Mrs. Julian T. Burke, Jr., and Mrs. Conrad Johnson were among those assisting.

The last meeting of the season of the literature section of the Cameron Club was held last evening at the residence of Miss Helen Cummings. An evening with the Poets was the programe, and most interesting were the papers and illustrating poems. Miss Margaret Green's subject was George Masefield, Miss Hurkamp, Robert Louis Stephenson, reading some of his familiar Child's Garden of Verses, Miss Simmon's subject, Stephen Phillips and Mrs. Hubbard read from Francis Thompson, especially emphasizing the strength of his poem, "The Hound of Heaven."

A large delegation of members of Old Dominion Commandery, No. 11, Knights Templar, of this city, will go to Fredericksburg Sunday evening, May 2, to join the Fredericksburg commandery in Ascension Day services.

Mr. and Mrs. Cary Ambler are leaving today to make their home in Brunswick County, Va. While residing here the for the past several months, Mr. and Mrs. Ambler made many friends who will regret to learn of their departure.

REINICKER LECTURES

Rev. Dr. Tomkins Expresses His Appreciation of Billy Sunday's Mission Work.

The Reinicker lectures delivered at the Episcopal Seminary, near this city, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week by the Rev. Floyd W. Tomkins, D. D., of Holy Trinity Church, Philadelphia, were deeply interesting and of great value to the students. In fact it was said by many that this course was the best delivered at the Seminary for some years past. The subject was a most practical one, for all students and minister being on Pastoral Theology, which was unfolded on all its sides in the successive lectures given by Dr. Tomkins, who is one of the most consecrated and eloquent clergymen of the Episcopal Church. One clergyman present said he considered these lectures among the most helpful experiences of his ministerial life. There was an uplift about them with their true practical and spiritual appeal which would never be forgotten, and he wished that all his friends among the clergy could have had the privilege of hearing them.

During the second lecture Dr. Tomkins spoke of the great work of Dr. Willliam Sunday, ("Billy" Sunday as he is popularly called), in Philadelphia. He said that he had known him for several years, and could testify to his consecration and power as a revivalist. He is a man absolutely sincere and devoted to his Master's work. Dr. Sunday considered himself as doing the work of preparation, like John the Baptist. He said he brought those whom he led to repentence to the doors of the various churches, and committed them to the respective ministers for the care and nurture of the church.

Dr. Sunday, so Dr. Tomkins said, had been misrepresented, not in every case with intent, by the press. But some of his sayings had been taken away from their context and made to appear irreverent or almost blasphemous, when thew were not, if they had been reported in their true connection. It is said also that he was often uncomplimentary to the regular clergy. But, Dr. Tomkins asserted, that while he spoke strongly about some of their faults and failings, he only desired to call them to their high duties. As Dr. Tomkins said, the clergy stood apart to a great extent from necessary criticism, and he thanked God for the stirring words of Dr. Sunday and felt that they helped himself. As for the great profits made by Dr. Sunday from his services, he could safely say that they never went into the evangelists's pockets. It is true that large sums were raised for him. But these were applied to building and equipping the large tabernacle, and the salaries of his twelve workers in Philadelphia. Dr. Sunday lived simply in his own home at Winona, and when conducting his evangelistic services, he was very generous in his benefactions. Only on the last day was a thank offering taken up, which was applied to Mr. Sunday's support. Dr. Sunday had his failings and peculiarities, as all of us have, Dr. Tomkins asserted, but he was a man of God, a preacher of the old gospel of repentance from sin, and faith in a crucified and risen Saviour, and the fruits of his work in Philadelphia were apparent everywhere.

Many of the students, who had not approved of the work of "Billy" Sunday, thanked Dr. Tomkins after the lecture for his approval and appreciation of the evangelists' work.

SHRINERS CAPTURE CITY

Two Hundred Members of Acca Temple of Richmond Arrive Here on Special Train

Alexandria is in the hands of the Shriners today, two hundred members of Acca Temple of Richmond having arrived here on a special train this afternoon for the purpose of holding a ceremonial session in the Elks' Auditorium tonight, at which time twenty novices will be initiated into the mysteries of the order. The visitors were met by committees of local Shriners who escorted them to the Elks' home, which is headquarters.

Mayor Thomas A. Fisher, who is a member of Acca Temple, will receive the visitors this afternoon and will present them with the keys to the city. At five o'clock there will be an exhibition drill at the corner of King and Washington Street by the Acca Patrol and also a band concert. Dinner will be served at the Elks' Hall at seven o'clock and at eight o'clock the ceremonial session will commence. The visitors will return to their homes tonight.

KAISER'S FORTUNE $42,000,000

Protectorate Over Turkey Was Ambition of German Emperor

Paris, April 17—The Kaiser's personal fortune exceeded $42,000,000 last August says Jules Duhem, the famous psychologist, in an exhaustive study of Emperor Wilhelm's habits and temperament in which he makes piquant revelations.

One of the sensational disclosures is that the Kaiser's greatest political ambition of recent years was the establishment of a German protectorate over Turkey. All his plans were laid when in 1912 the Balkan war completely upset them, the result being to place vigorous, warlike nations between the Germanic people and the Ottomans.

Edward VII, who was always amused by the Kaiser's idea of the divinity of Kingship, said shortly before he died:

"My nephew ought to remember that kings and emperors will be compelled to shut up shop in the future."

The Kaiser owns 295 different uniforms, says Duhem, but wears only twenty or thirty. In recent years he discarded glittering military outfits in favor of the severe uniform of the first regiment Grenadier Guard. Sixteen valeta under the grand marshal of the court take care of the Imperial wardrobe.

The Kaiser uses fawn-colored notepaper of huge dimensions bearing a big monogram. The Imperial letters must never be folded. They are therefore delivered in very large envelopes, sealed with black wax.

When he rises at 6 a. m. the Emperor reads references to himself in the world's newspapers, magazines and books. The special staff translates these articles from seven languages.

Daily newspaper clippings from Germany, France, England and America are stuck in separate pieces in a gilded cardboard, which is placed in a handsome portfolio bearing the Imperial arms and laid on the Kaiser's breakfast table. His personal library is one of the finest in the world, military works being the largest.

PORTRAYAL NEARLY FATAL.

Philadelphia, April 17.—Demonstrating to Jacob Spector, 33 years old, who was being shaved, how people commit suicide with razors, M. Weinstein, a barber at No. 910 South Third street, became so realistic in his pantomiming that Spector became alarmed. Reaching up with his right hand Spector attempted to wave Weinstein aside, but as he did so his wrist came in contact with the keen-edged implement. Before Weinstein could back away a deep gash had been slashed across the wrist of the man in the chair, severing an artery.

In the excitement which followed the accidental cutting Spector almost bled to death. A brother of the injured man finally made a turniquet out of a towel. Then Spector was placed in an automobile and hurried to Mt. Sinai Hospital. It required ten stitches to sew up the gash in his wrist. When the physicians had completed the job Spector was so weak from loss of blood that he could hardly stand on his feet.

The alarm of fire shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon was caused by a blaze in a frame house at Columbus and Greene streets. Some damage was done before the flames were subdued.

...ians' Story of Sinking of ...e Dutch Ship Katwyk

...dague, April 17.—A submarine ...e Dutch steamer Katwyk, ...vent down Thursday near the ...linder lightship, according to ...t of the examination of the captain and crew published ...department of marine. The re...rts:

...captain cast anchors in 20 ...athoms of water seven miles west ...of the North Hinder lightship. The anchor light immediately was lighted as well as two electric lamps illuminating the flag fore and aft, 15 and 10 feet in length, respectively. Between the flags in big letters were the words 'Katwyk, Rotterdam'.

"The second mate and two sailors were busy with the lamps. Besides the lookout standing on the bridge, nobody else was on deck. Suddenly a heavy shock was felt and the mate observed a column of water on the port side. The lamps were thrown out and fire started immediately.

"The captain and crew hastened on deck and took to the boats, remaining near the sinking vessel for some time. Suddenly they observed a submarine emerging, showing no number, and with none of the crew visible. The Katwyk's captain shouted a request that the submarine tow the boats to the lightship, but no attention was paid to him and the submarine disappeared in the darkness. The Katwyk disappeared beneath the water in 20 minutes and the boats were rowed to the lightship"

London, April 17—Reuter's Telegraph Company has received a dispatch from its correspondent at Berlin, who says the German government has begun an investigation of the torpedoing in the North Sea by a German submarine of the Netherlands steamer Katwyk the night of April 15 and will shortly elucidate the incident.

...UEEN CHECK ON GREECE

...ared Ready To Leave King If He Acts Against Germany

...aris, April 17—If Greece joins ...Triple Entente powers, the Greek ...een makes no secret of her in...tion of leaving King Constantine ...nd returning to Germany. This ...news was telegraphed from Athens ...yesterday by the prominent French ...writer Georges De Maisiere.

...King Constantine," he says, "was the first inclined to support the Venizelos attack on Turkey, when the Queen, who is the Kaiser's sister, brought all her influence to bear on him and induced him to remain neutral. The Queen, who is of a tenacious and strong willed disposition, is now credited with scoring several big German triumphs in the court where most of the princes have come under her imperious sway.

"Only a few of the princes remain independent," adds De Maisiere, "and it will astonish none to learn that one of them has married a French princess. Thus it is that, as in the days of Troy, women are still having a voice in the grave councils.

"The Queen herself has cried aloud that if Greece emerges from her neutrality she will quit Greek territory forever and return to her brother's side at Potsdam."

Reliable information received here is to the effect that the Queen's Potsdam apartments are already prepared for her.

TURKS GOOD TO FOREIGNERS

All Comfortable and Happy English Missionary Says

London, April 17—"The Turks so far have treated all the foreign missionaries and business people very handsomely," writes the Rev. Dr. T. R. Hodgson, a British missionary from Constantinople, describing the state of affairs in the Turkish capital. He continues:

"We are perfectly well, comfortable and happy so far as circumstances will allow. Our most sincere recognition is due to the courtesy of the authorities here; the Turks not only go out of their way to be kind to us, but have shown a delicacy of feeling which does credit to their humanity.

"Order has been strictly maintained in this great city, and we and our people have suffered not the slightest molestation or trouble. Our work proceeds as usual. We do not know what a day may bring forth, but in the meantime our friends should realize that we are really well and contented, and that our confidence in the authorities has been fully justified by the fact that our doors have not been closed for a single day."

ITALY IS READY FOR WAR

Has Nearly Million and a Quarter of Men Under Arms

On the Italian frontier, via Paris, April 17—Italy has 1,200,000 first line soldiers under arms. They are from 20 to 26 years of age. They are perfectly armed and equipped otherwise "to the last button."

General Zupelli, the Italian minister of war, speaking on the military situation in Italy, said that a miracle had been accomplished in that country which for about 20 years had maintained a military organization merely for the purpose of preservation of peace, had created what he termed one of the most perfect of war machines. The change was not easy, General Zupelli said, as was proved wherever the same work was attempted. Great Britain for example, had faced the same problem and, though possessing greater resources was even less prepared than Italy.

The war minister said that the equipment of the army with weapons was superior proportionately to that of the German army at the beginning of the war.

Eagerness of the soldiers concentrated along the frontier to begin action is so great that their officers are compelled to hold them closely in check, for fear of disturbing border incidents.

In view of the extensive preparations which have been made, the question is asked with increasing frequency why Italy does not enter the war. Men in a position to speak with authority say that a majority of the people prefer and the government still hopes to obtain territorial concessions from Austria without a rupture of friendly relations.

Weather conditions in the Alps also must be remembered in considering Italy's probable action. Snow still lies deep in the mountains and the cold is intense. Most of the passes are still closed by snow and ice.

125,000 JOBLESS IN CHICAGO.

Building Contractors Retaliate As Result of Strike.

Chicago, April 17.—The strike order issued by the Carpenters' District Council, which became effective at the close of work Thursday, was followed yesterday by a retaliative measure in the form of a lockout directed at 16,000 carpenters engaged in construction work all over Cook county. The lockout debarred the union carpenters from work on 4,000 buildings which are being erected by 1,200 contractors, who are pledged and bonded to maintain their stand until every union in the structural trades comes to terms. The terms include an anti-strike agreement covering a period of three years.

It was estimated that 125,000 wage-earners in Chicago were made jobless yesterday for the lockout and strike tied up operations on $3,000,000 worth of work. Besides the total of 60,000 unionists of various branches of the building trades, at least 60,000 more men and women in shops and mills that furnish material for buildings were laid off, and in addition hundreds of others dependent on building construction for work.

Employing painters, who had voted not to hire any of the 11,000 union painters in the Painters' District Council, began employing nonunion painters yesterday. Reports of violence which reached the employers' headquarters resulted in precautions being taken to protect the nonunionists from attacks.

Eighteen hundred members of the sheet metal workers' union are expected to be locked out today by the sheet metal contractors, who were ordered to neforce a lockout by the Building Construction Employers' Association. The metal contractors were under bond to enforce the rulings of the parent association.

MRS. MUNSON ARRESTED.

San Francisco, April 17.—Mrs. Lillian Camp Munson, said to be the wife of a New York capitalist and artist of note, was a Federal prisoner here yesterday, charged with aiding Ralph N. Lovell to loot the First National Bank, Edgewater, N. J., of $105,000. Lovell was formerly the cashier of the institution, and is now awaiting trial. Mrs. Munson hysterically denied all knowledge of the crime.

Mrs. Munson was arraigned before a United States commissioner and remanded to the custody of a Federal marshal, who started for New Jersey with her today.

Mrs. Munson later admitted her infatuation for Lovell, and spoke freely of her trip to Rio Janerio with him. Upon his arrival there, Mrs. Munson said, Lovell began spending money recklessly and abusing her. This shattered the romance. She returned to New York, where she met and married Mr. Munson.

ANNIVERSARY OF SECESSION.

Fifty-four years ago today members of a state convention voted Virginia out of the federal union and united the Old Dominion with the late Southern Confederacy. The history which preceded and followed this step is ancient, but it brings to mind many incidents in connection with the days which tried men's souls and through which some of our older citizens passed.

According to the terms under which Virginia joined the federal union, the right of the state to withdraw from the compact whenever her interests demanded such an act was reserved. Massachusetts had also entered under similar terms, and it was a day when state sovereignty was regarded as an ideal, to which every other sentiment or claim was subordinate.

While signs were ominous in 1860, the majority of the people of Virginia—including the portion of the old state now known as West Virginia—was opposed to secession. In November of that year the state showed its aversion to withdrawing from the federal compact and so expressed itself by giving a majority for Bell and Everett, the constitutional union candidates for President and Vice President. South Carolina later seceded from the union, and tremendous pressure was brought upon Virginia to join the Confederacy. About this time delegates to a state convention were elected on the issue "union or disunion," and a majority of the delegates selected were averse to secession. In Alexandria George W. Brent was elected over William G. Cazenove, the non-union candidate.

When the convention met John Janney, of Loudoun county, a pronounced union man, was chosen president. A vote was taken on the secession question during the first week in April, 1861, when it was seen that the pro-union element was decidedly in the majority. The vote was 45 for secession and 89 against. After other states had seceded and the steamer "Star of the West" had been fired on by Confederate batteries in Charleston harbor and the federal government had called for 75,000 men with which to crush the South, a change came over the spirit of the dreams of the members of the convention, and on the evening of the 17th of April, 1861, a dispatch to the Gazette was received from Richmond stating that the convention had voted the state out of the union. It was placed upon the bulletin board where it was read with regret by some and delight by others.

General Robert E. Lee had not been a secessionist from the first. During the spring of 1861 while in a store on King street, opposite the present Gazette office, he said, "I'm one of those dull people who fail to see anything good to result from secession."

But, like his noble ancestors, he believed in state sovereignty, and when Virginia cast her lot with the Confederacy he believed it to be his duty to follow her.

On the 23rd day of May, 1861, people of Virginia by a majority ratified the action of the state convention. Early the next morning, while the stars were still in the skies, the federal army moved on Alexandria and captured the city. The southern soldiers—or the bulk of them—escaped capture, Colonel Ellsworth, of the New York Fire Zouaves, was killed in the Marshall House by James Jackson, the proprietor, after the former had removed a Confederate flag from the building, Jackson was slain by soldiers who accompanied the colonel and a ball was set in motion which enrolled on until its momentum finally halted at Appomattox four years later.

NEWSPAPER ERRORS

The capacity for some people for detecting errors in the newspapers is marvelous. Also it is singular how many unexpected meanings these people can find.

If the reporter writes that a man wore a coat of such and such a character, some one may call up and ask if the coat was all the man had on? To satisfy these literalists, you must enumerate item by item the other article of attire, or they will accuse you of making the victim appear half naked.

The reader, who digests his paper in the quiet of his home feels that he has shown great brilliancy if he detects an error in grammar or capitalization. It is one thing to find mistakes at your leisure in another man's work, quite another to turn out high degree of accuracy and precision in the haste of newspaper composition.

The banker makes blunders in figures, the lawyer draws up incorrect papers, and the business man submits erroneous bills. Such blunders are known only to the few persons whom they concern. The newspaper man is like the actor on the stage whose slightest slip is manifest to all and seems ridiculous.

It would be perfectly possible to produce a newspaper having the same high degree of accuracy as the best edited magazine. But this would either cost about twice as much for a more costly force, or else the scope and field of the newspaper would have to be reduced and less matter printed. The public would not pay the bill in the first case, and it would not be satisfied with curtailment of service. So the newspapers struggle along as best they can in their eternal effort to accomplish that impossibility—a snap shot of daily life that shall be permanent and absolutely truthful history.

The newspaper man is not offended when he is jollied on such mistakes as creep in. He merely wishes the critics could have his job about one week.

"IN HOC SIGNO VINCES" AGAIN IN THE SKY

Some time after the death of Constantine, Eusebius, a church father stated that the Emperor while on his death bed told him he saw a bright cross in the sky at mid day with words in Greek, which signify "by this sign conquer" the Latin translation of which forms the headline of this article.

It seems that in the twentieth century some people are still reading signs in the sky. A dispatch from Paris says:

Meteorological phenomena have been observed frequently of late in France. Abbe Morcux, director of the observatory at Foruges, says that his attention has been directed every few days to singular phenomena in the sky, such as halos, crowns and luminous crosses. Many persons see in the manifestation a mystic sign of victory.

Many years have elapsed since Constantine fell asleep, and people in subsequent ages have preferred to believe that the Christian emperor saw what Eusebius alleges he confided to him. Gibbon in his "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," treats the story as a fable, as does Draper in his "Intellectual Development of Europe" in our own day. They were both Agnostics, however.

The Russian consul at Kirmanshah has been murdered by Persians, according to advices received in Constantinople.

MOTORCAR PROGRESS.

Standardization of the Parts and What That Means.

Ask any engineer what feature of modern motorcar construction represents the greatest improvement and advancement in design, and he will say not the automatic engine starter, the six cylinder engine, but standardization.

That may be a word which means but little to the car owner, but he unconsciously derives untold benefit from it every day that he runs his automobile. By reason of it he has only to ask for a certain kind of spark plug and he knows it will fit the cylinder, he has only a dozen or so different sizes of tires from which to select the one adapted to his car, and even the carburetor may be replaced by one of a different make without any change whatsoever in the bolt holes or attaching flange.

A vital part of the motor or running gear may be replaced by a blacksmith or local machine shop from the ordinary sizes of stock carried on hand, and the screw thread sizes as now used conform to a certain standard that renders replacements exceedingly simple. Grease cups, nuts or bolts that may have been lost may be replaced at the nearest supply store or garage, for no longer does each manufacturer work only to his own specifications on these minor parts.—H. W. Slauson, M. E., in Leslie's.

LOST HIS BAROMETER.

Count Zeppelin Says General Butterfield Sneaked It Away.

Count Zeppelin, the inventor of the dirigible balloon, is not a stranger to the United States, for he saw service with the Union army in the war between the states. In his recently published reminiscences he tells this amusing story of General Butterfield, who was chief of staff in the Army of the Potomac:

In planning operations General Butterfield attached special significance to knowledge of the probable weather conditions, and for this reason he became especially fond of an excellent aneroid barometer that I had obtained from London and paid a lot of money for.

He saw this instrument in my tent, borrowed it from me, then found it impossible to give it up. He kept it a longer time each time he borrowed it until at last he failed to return it at all. When I was about to leave the army I asked him again and again to return it, and I finally became so pressing that he said he would go to his tent and fetch it out.

After waiting outside a long time I followed him into the tent. It was empty. With my barometer in his hand he had crawled under the canvas and disappeared.

Owes His Life to This Lung Remedy

If you neglect a continued cough or cold you are in constant danger of easily contracting serious Lung Trouble. The cough or cold which does not yield to ordinary treatment should be a warning to you and preventive measures should be taken as soon as possible. In many cases, Eckman's Alterative, a remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles, has brought permanent recovery. Read this:

Catherine Ave. and Ascot Place,
Queens Court, L. I., N. Y.

"Gentlemen:—In the year 1908 I was taken with a heavy cold and a most short cough. I went to several doctors who gave me a lot of medicine. Finally, I went to a specialist, who gave me creosote that made me sick of all kinds of food; consequently I failed in health. I then went to the Catskills, and seemed to get better, but the cough still kept up. I stayed there for one year, and then went to a farm near Jersey City, a very sick man. About the time of my return, my brother recommended Eckman's Alterative to me very highly. It is now nearly two years since I first took it, and now well, and I dare say that I would have been buried long ago if it had not been for Eckman's Alterative."

(Affidavit) JOSEPH J. THOESCHEIL.

Eckman's Alterative has been proved by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of its cures, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. For sale by all leading druggists.

Splendid For Rheumatism

"I thing Chamberlain's Liniment is just splendid for rheumatism," writes Mrs. Dunburgh, Eldridge, N. Y. "It has been used by myself and other members of my family time and time again during the past six years and has always given the best of satisfaction." The quick relief from pain which Chamberlain's Liniment affords is alone worth many times the cost. Obtainable everywhere.

HARD TO INTERRUPT SERVICE

Common Mistake That Wireless Communication Can Be Easily Interfered With.

Many suppose that it is possible for an enemy to disrupt and suspend all wireless communication at will by producing very powerful waves of irregular length; in other words, by interference or "jamming." According to Commander F. G. Loring of the British navy, such tactics are seldom successful. It is very hard, if not impossible, to "jam" a well-organized wireless service, for there are many ways, both technical and methodical, to defeat such an intention. If the enemy attempts interference, he must put his own wireless communication completely out of action for the time being, with no certain prospect of seriously inconveniencing the communication of his opponent. Commander Loring also believes that the risk of having the signals of the fleet intercepted by an enemy is very slight. "Co-operation between operators, with full knowledge of each other's methods, is extremely important when handling difficult code messages, and the more skilled the organization, the more difficult it is for a strange operator to take down with the necessary accuracy the groups of a code message. He cannot ask for the repetition of doubtful groups, and he has no intimate and daily familiarity with the methods of the sender to assist him in his task. And, after all, giving the enemy every advantage, giving him a perfect record of the signals, the key of the code to his hand, and equal facility of skill and language to translate it for use—a most important combination, it must be admitted—he has still failed to prevent the all-important information from reaching its destination." — Youth's Companion.

ORIGIN LOST IN ANTIQUITY

Phrase That Has Become Famous Has Been Credited to Many Thinkers and Writers.

"Germany's place in the sun" is a phrase usually credited to the former Chancellor von Buelow. But how far back does it go?

A writer to the New York Evening Post quotes from Ernest Renan's "Life of Jesus," "The situation of a poor man is dreadful; literally there is no place for him in the sun." The writer of the letter observes, "It would be interesting to know if the metaphor was original with Renan."

It was not.

In Pascal's "Thoughts" this occurs: "This place in the sunshine is mine; that is the beginning and the type of usurpation the world over." And Pascal's "Thought," of that moment, was of war.

Was it Louis Fourteenth (the monarch of Pascal's maturity) who had coined the phrase to justify his ambitions? Or was it the phrase of Richelieu (discoverer of the youthful Pascal's genius) who used it for France? Was it then an old saying, borrowed from Caesar, or Alexander—or maybe from Rameses?

A Terrible Weapon.

A new weapon has been provided for the United States army which is far more efficient than any heretofore adopted. It was invented and is used by the French military authorities, and already nearly a hundred have been purchased by the United States. The new gun, which is described in the June Popular Mechanics Magazine, weighs but 35 pounds and can easily be carried by a soldier. Two men are required to operate it, both of whom lie flat on the ground, presenting a small mark to the enemy. One man feeds the cartridges into the breech of the gun in clips of 25 each, while the other aims the weapon and directs the firing mechanism. The gun will fire separate shots or will operate automatically, in which case 300 shots may be fired per minute. At long range a third soldier ascertains the range by the use of binoculars and reports the effect of the bullets.

French Schools Reopened.

The schools of France have partially resumed, after holidays which started early in July. They are badly disorganized, however, both on account of the fact that fully 25,000 schoolmasters are serving with the colors, and that many of the older boys are on the firing line. By order of the minister of public instruction the first lesson of the term took the form of an address by the headmaster on the war, commemorating those who have fallen already in defense of the country.

In the girls' schools, two hours a day are to be spent knitting for the soldiers.

Development of Heat by Plants.

The development of heat by plants in Dewar flasks has been studied recently by H. Mollach. The flowers, leaves, and fruits of a large number of plants showed great contrasts in the amount of heat developed. Most leaves and flowers developed considerable heat; mosses, algae, and a number of common fruits, very little. Lichens and fungi showed a wide range in this respect.

House With Glass Floors.

George R. Howe of Norway, Me., is planning to build on a hill in that town a fireproof house entirely of artificial stone, steel and glass. The floors and stairways will be of solid glass, while electricity will be used to a great extent to eliminate possibility of fire.

WHAT THE HORSES CARRY

French, German and Austrian Animals Are Taxed More Than English and Russian.

Cavalry are playing an unexpectedly large part in the war, and the weight carried by cavalry horses in the various armies is of interest. The British cavalry is armed with the short Lee-Enfield rifle, the magazine of which holds ten rounds; the sword, which is carried by all ranks except signalers; and the revolver, carried by warrant officers, staff sergeants, sergeants, trumpeters and drivers. Each trooper carries 100 rounds of ammunition in a bandolier over the left shoulder. Lancer regiments carry the lance. Each cavalryman (like the infantryman) carries an emergency and the "iron" ration and a ration for his horse. Then there is the kit. Altogether the British troop-horse carries about two hundred and eighty pounds.

The regular Russian cavalry are armed with sword, rifle and bayonet, and each man carries 40 rounds of ammunition. There are the two days' oats and hay ration, a cloak, and an entrenching tool. The cavalryman's kit, two days' rations, spare horseshoes, horse blanket, canvas bucket, and a mess-tin go to form the complete equipment, and weigh altogether about one hundred and nineteen pounds. The Cossack pony carries about two hundred and thirty-eight pounds. The average weight carried by the Indian troop horse when ready for war is about two hundred and sixty-six pounds. The Austrian troopers carry a weight between two hundred and eighty and two hundred and eighty-six pounds, and the average in the French and German armies is about the same.—Manchester Guardian

FIND CAUSE OF SOURNESS

Giant Elephant at New York Zoo Is an Actor and Naturally Temperamental.

At last Doctor Hornaday and Raymond L. Ditmars of the Bronx zoo have found out just why Gunda, in addition to being the largest elephant in captivity, has steadily built up a reputation as the greatest section of elephant hide encasing the largest chunk of temperament in the known world.

The answer is easy. Gunda's temperament is due to the fact that Gunda has become an actor. Temperament simply oozed from every pore when Gunda was called forth at long range to pose for the series of moving pictures that are being taken of the zoo animals for Curator Ditmars.

"Register sweetness and light, there's a good Gunda," called the movie director as Gunda was led out and the camera began to click.

Gunda, missing the cue, instantly tried to register murder, fire, and sudden death. Doctor Ditmars, who had been in the act of stepping up to Gunda and offering the elephant a loaf of bread, changed his mind and went away from there. The last heard of one of the movie men was in the form of a long yell retreating through Yonkers.

But Doctor Ditmars got his pictures of Gunda in the act of being temperamental finally, and they are now being shown by Doctor Ditmars these days at the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences.—New York Sun.

War Distance.

War, besides being a great leveler, is also a great educator. Places we had never even heard of previously are now becoming as "familiar in our mouths as household words." The distances are apt to be somewhat confusing unless understood. It ought, however, to be quite easy to remember that a meter measures about one and one-twelfth yards, or more exactly, 39.37 inches. A decameter is 10 meters, a hectometer is 100 meters, and a kilometer is 1,000 meters, or a little more than three-fifths of a mile. The Russians express the length of their marches or the distance from place to place in versts. A verst is rather more than a kilometer, the exact distance being 0.6628 of a mile, or between three-fifths and four-fifths of that distance.

An Americanized Embassy.

The German embassy in Carlton House terrace in London has changed its name to suit the exigencies of the time. It is now labeled legibly "American Embassy" on front and chancellery doors, and the Prussian black eagle has been removed. By the irony of fate and its lease, it has recently been repainted with the rest of the terrace, and this the Prussian government will have to pay for sooner or later, or lose the lease.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Women Police for New Zealand.

Women police may shortly be appointed in New Zealand. It was recently decided that the government of New Zealand should communicate with the governments of countries in which women constables are employed, and, after considering the information obtained from this source, decide if the fair sex should be appointed to the New Zealand force.

And No Osterizing?

Insurance authorities find that in the last 50 years the average man has increased his length of life by seven years. At this rate, as may easily be determined, the man of 2917 will live 140 years longer than the man of today, in spite of the war.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, Supervising Architect's Office, Washington, D. C., March 22, 1915—Sealed proposals will be opened in this office at 3 p. m., April 19, 1915, for a vacuum cleaning apparatus at the United States customhouse and post office at Alexandria Va., in accordance with drawing and specification, copies of which may be had at this office or at the office of the custodian, Alexandria, Va., in the discretion of the Supervising Architect. O. Wenderoth, Supervising Architect. 26—o. o. d.

CHARGED WITH KILLING GIRL

Man Held at Lima, Ohio, Said to Have Confessed

Lima, Ohio, April 17—Dorrance Riddle, 25 years old, under arrest here for the murder of Miss Susie Coleman, 16 years old, and who, the police say, made a confession of the crime early yesterday, was arraigned in Police Court at noon on a charge of second degree murder. He pleaded not guilty, waived examination and was held to the grand jury under $20,000 bond.

Miss Coleman's body was found in the Lima railroadyords buried under iron sheeting and hidden by an old boiler yesterday. She had been killed Wednesday night.

Police are also trying to learn the identity of a girl in Nashville, Tenn, who had corresponded with Riddle and who signed herself "Pauline." Her latest letter urged Riddle to come to see her soon.

Police declared Riddle was to have met "Pauline" in Cincinnati Saturday.

VINCENT ASTOR THREATENED

Young Italian Charged With Trying To Extort $500

New York, April, 17—Accused of threatening to kill Vincent Astor if he should refuse a demand for $500, John Meriella, 19 years old, was arrested at the Grand Central terminal yesterday on complaint of Mr. Astor's business agent, William A. Doobyn.

Meriella was taken to police headquarters, where it was said he admitted having sent two letters to the young millionaire containing death threats and demands for money. He stated, according to the police, that if he had not been arrested he would have attempted to carry out his threat.

In addition to a charge of attempted extortion the accusation of violating the Sullivan law forbidding the carrying of concealed weapons was laid against him.

High School Glee Club Organized—Final Debating Primary Tonight.

A chorus of a hundred voices was organized at a meeting held Thursday afternoon in the school building. The chorus will be the High School Glee Club and the nearest object in view besides the giving of concerts and other functions is to sing at the 1915 commencement. Books have been ordered and will be at the school Monday. An appropriation has been made for the use of this chorus out of the money realized from the two plays given under the auspices of the A. H. S. Literary Society, but owing to the great number who will form the singing club and the limited number of books which have been ordered a great number of members will purchase their own outfits.

The new organization is being coached under the direction of Mr. S. G. Blanton, who heads the musical side of the school and who is taking great interest in the new undertaking. The plan for the organization came from him and ways to carry it out also, and he expects to make a big success out of the affair, an expectation and hope which is shared by every other person in the school.

At the meeting Thursday the principal business transacted was the establishing of a time for rehearsals. The chorus will be divided into several sections, each of which will rehearse once a week in the afternoon at the school. A piano has been rented which will be at the school building Monday. The whole chorus will rehearse every Monday night from seven until eight-thirty at the Young Peopl'e Building. Organization having been completed the first steps will be quickly taken in order to get the whole assemblage to work in harmony and get in a lot of good work preliminary to the big musical festival for the commencement exercises.

The final primary of the debating contest will be held tonight at eight o'clock at the school. The first subject for debate is "Resolved that examinations should be abolished in the High School," the speaker for the affirmative being Miss Sarah Cox and the one for the negative, William Morton. The second subject, "Resolved, that a minimum wage law should be enacted," is between Gus Pohl, affirmative, and Miss Ora Dickert, negative. The winners of the two debates will be pitted against each other at the next regular meeting of the Society on the subject, "Resolved, that American boys should be given military training."

At the meeting last Saturday night the first debate, "Resolved, that unpaid convict labor is slavery and should be abolished," was won by Waller Barrett, the negative, and the second, "Resolved, that capital punishment should be abolished," by Miss Anna Haslett, negative. These two will debate against each other at the next meeting on "Resolved, that the Monroe doctrine should be abolished," as will also the two winners of the first primary, and the winners tonight. At the close of the next regular meeting, thus, the field will be narrowed down to three contestante, the first two of which will debate against each other, the one winning to debate in the final stage against thet hird. This last will be awarded the medal at commencement. The judges last Saturday night were the Rev. Edgar Carpenter, Mr. John Leadbeater, and Mr. Gilbert J. Cox.

Hard luck has been one of the prime factors in causing the High School baseball team to lose a big majority of their games so far, but the schedule is not yet half played and lots of games remain in which the team can come thru in its true form. Monday a hard game is scheduled with the Army and Navy Prep School at Washington and the team is going to try hard to come thru with a victory. Thursday, after a hard uphill and nervy fight, the A. H. S. lost to St. Agnes Sunday School, of Washington, which it defeated in the initial game of the season. The game was played at the Park. The A. H. S. team, after making a good start, even with the Washingtonians, was nosed out by several runs in the middle of the game. Had not the Sunday School boys ade another run in the eighth inning, however, the game would have gone into extra innings. The final score was 11 to 0. "Lefty" Gaines in the fourth, relieved "Dick" Nalls, who started the game for the local team.

With the school behind the team the players will work hard for a large majority of victories in the remaining games on the schedule which include a number of teams in return games and also a few new nines.

The class of 1916 regrets the loss of one of its most popular members, Clyde Smith.

INSANITY IN GERMANY ARMY.

Strain of Battle Driving Men Crazy Says Nerve Specialist.

London, April 17—A dispatch from Lausanne, Switzerland, says that the National Suisse of that city quotes Professor Gaupp, distinguished nerve specialist of Tugingen, as calling attention in the Muenchner Medizinische Worchenschrift to an alarming increase in the number of cases of insanity in the German army.

At the commencement of the war the professor is quoted as saying, the state of the nerves of the German troops was better than reasonably could have been hoped for, but even then numerous cases of overexcitement could be observed, these cases usually manifesting themselves either in insomnia or in a tendency to abnormal intoxication.

Since then, however, and especially since the French offensive of last December, the professor says a very large number of gaps have been made in the firing line by nervous and mental affections, these sudden breakdowns occurring among men unwounded by the explosion of a shell near them.

The acute symptoms are recorded as paralysis, convulsions, loss of speech, delirium or hallucinations.

Through often disappearing under careful hospital treatment, they reappear on a return to the front, the mere suggestion of a return to the firing line being often sufficient to drive men mad.

Pennsylvania Railroad Company to Build New Cars and Engines

Philadelphia, Pa., April 17—The Pennsylvania Railroad will go into the market today for $20,000,000 worth of equipment and for material for cars and locomotives which it will build in its own shops. This is the first equipment buying of any magnitude by the road in more than a year.

The company now plans to build 141 locomotives in its Juniata shops at Altoona, and bids will be requested for material for these locomotives. Seventy-six of the new engines will be of the new standard freight type and 68 will be shifting engines.

The railroad's program calls for 146 all-steel passenger coaches, divided as follows: Fifty standard coaches, 34 combination cars, 42 baggage and mail cars, 15 baggage and express cars and five horse express cars. Bids will be asked for building 90 of these passenger cars, while inquiries will be made on prices for material for the other 56, which will be built at the Altoona shops.

Bids also will be asked on 7,648 freight cars which the company plans to have built by outside companies.

Bids also will be asked on materials for 2,102 freight cars to be built at Altoona. The freight car program calls for 2,000 steel box cars, 2,500 gondola cars, 4,919 coal and coke cars, 224 refrigerator cars and 102 flat cars. The company plans to build in the Altoona shops 1,000 of the box cars, 1000 of thegondolas and all of the refreigerator and flat cars.

BOMB DROPPING RAIDS

Ten Persons Reported Killed by German Airmen

London, April 17—As an offset to the spectacular flights of German airmen over portions of County Kent England, and the city of Amemes France, a bomo dropping raid has been carried out by allied aviators on towns in west Germany.

While it is said that little material damage and only slight casualties resulted from attacks on several Kentish towns and villages ten persons are reported to have been killed or wounded by bombs droped from a German taube in the vicinity of the cathedral in Amiens.

Two civilians were killed and one person injured in Rottweil, Wurttemberg, by the exploding missile from a French biplane, which attempted to destroy the powder magazine, while other allied aviators threw bombs on Leopoldshoche and Maizieres les Metz, 10 miles north of the German fortress of Metz. Ten bombs according to Paris, found their target in Leopoldshoehe—workshops of a railway station—and 30 fell on the electric station of Maizieres les Metz.

Six struck the powder magazine at Rottweil, Paris, says, and a huge red flame shot up, surrounded by dense smoke. The army commander at Stuttgart, however, declares that aside from the fatalities, the damage done at Rottweil was slight.

The Amsterdam correspondent of Reuter's Telegraph Comany sends the following:

"A telegram from Haltingen (a Baden-Baden) states that a hostile village of Baden, 96 miles south of airmen dropped five bombs. Four of the bombs did no harm; a fifth destroyed two empty railway cars, which bought fire. One man was severely wounded."

APAN NOT WELL UNDERSTOOD

Eastern Empire Has Through the Centuries Retained Keen Sense of Its Individuality.

Japanese history has been the record of a practically uninterrupted racial life. The islands which constitute the empire of Japan have not only never been conquered, they have never been invaded, writes Hamilton W. Mable in the Outlook.

The emperor now reigning is the 122d of his dynasty; the development of the life of the people, whatever its limitations and defects, has been uninterrupted by disturbance from without. It has been deeply influenced by Asiatic ideals and conventions; but the foreign ideals and manners which have found acceptance by the Japanese have made their way by persuasion, not by arms.

Japan differs radically from the other countries of the East in its possession of a sensitive national consciousness and of a thorough and minute social and political organization. In this respect it stands in striking contrast to other oriental countries. So far as the feeling of radical unity and the consciousness of sharply defined national aims and interests are concerned, India and China have been mere geographical terms, conveying no such group of ideas, convictions, and mental habits as the word Italy, France and England convey.

Japan, on the other hand, has as keen a sense of its individuality, so as to speak, as any western nation; and in point of thoroughness of organization stands beside Germany. The immense significance of this fact has not yet been recognized in the West.

SURE OF ONLY ONE THING

Wellington Could Tell Little of Battle Plans, But He Knew Himself and Uxbridge.

Wellington's reticence once drew a protest from Lord Uxbridge, the brilliant cavalry leader who lost a leg at Waterloo. On the eve of the great battle Uxbridge, although next to Wellington in command, knew nothing of his chief's plans for the morrow's battle. With trepidation he approached the duke. If Wellington were killed Uxbridge would become commander in chief. What was the plan? The duke listened patiently.

"Tell me, Uxbridge, who will attack the first tomorrow—I or Bonaparte?"

"Undoubtedly Bonaparte."

"Well, Bonaparte hasn't given me any idea of his projects, and as my plans depend upon his plans, how can you expect me to tell you mine?"

Uxbridge bowed and was about to retire when the duke added in the friendliest way: "There's one thing certain, Uxbridge, whatever happens, you and I will do our duty."

"The Ideal Catalogue."

A librarian's idea of the most useful form of catalogue for a library is given as follows:

"The ideal catalogue for a public library is one published with one line entries, each being about twice as long as the average newspaper column is wide. This catalogue is published in the form of a newspaper, on cheap paper cheaply printed. It is sold by the library at about two cents a copy. The copies sold are soon worn out or thrown away and do not come back in after years to vex the librarian. The library keeps the whole thing in type, takes out some titles every month, adds new ones, and prints a new edition. This catalogue contains author entries only. If a man wishes to know anything about the books in the public library that this catalogue does not tell he goes to the library and finds out by asking; if he wishes information concerning books on a certain subject he goes to a bibliography of that subject; if he wishes to know certain specific things about certain books he asks to see the books themselves."

Old Sayings About the Weather.

If it thunders on Sunday, the death of a great man will follow; on Monday, the death of a woman is portended; on Tuesday in early summer, an abundance of grain; on Wednesday, warfare is threatened; on Thursday, an abundance of both sheep and of corn; on Friday, a man of note will be murdered, and on Saturday, there will be a pestilence or some other great disaster.

Truly, thunder is an ill-omened visitor at the best!

If the full moon should rise red, expect wind.

The sharper the blast, the sooner 'tis past.

A light, yellow sky at sunset foretells a windstorm.

Three foggy mornings in succession mean rain.

A sky full of stars predicts rain.

Look Ahead.

There are some people who ride all through the journey of life with their backs to the horses' heads. They are always looking into the past. They are forever talking about the good old times, and how different things were when they were young. There is no romance in the world now, and no heroism. The very winters and summers are nothing to what they used to be; in fact, life is altogether on a small, commonplace scale. Now, that is a miserable sort of thing. It brings a kind of paralyzing chill over life, and petrifies the natural spring of joy that should be forever leaping up to meet the fresh new mercies that the day keeps bringing.

THE TURTLE BAY INCIDENT

U. S. Authorities Satisfied Japan Has no Intention of Making Naval Base.

Commander Normura, naval attache of the Japanese embassy, called informally on Navy Department officials yesterday, and assured them that there was no truth in the reports that any attempt was being made to establish a permanent naval base. He is understood to have explained that the presence of the Japanese warships was due entirely to the accident to the cruiser Asama, which ran aground there recently.

There was informal discussion of the Turtle Bay situation at yesterday's cabinet meeting, but the general tendency was to discredit reports that have reached here.

Cabinet officers who are in touch with American wrecking companies attempting to float the Asama pointed out that the vessel was fast in the mud, almost to her decks. Navy officials who have given attention to the subject say it would not be surprising if the Asama was never refloated.

Published reports, however, attracted wide attention among diplomats and officials. The fact that British colliers were assisting the Japanese warships convinced high officials there could be no foundation for the idea that any movement was afoot to establish a permanent base.
